

Concede a Point, Keep the Position

English ·12th year · Continuation · Document01

How to work

All situations and speakers are fictional. Read both facts on each card. Follow the requested construction. Line1: one corrected statement, up to24 words. Line2: the fact codes and a short reason. Check grammar and the speaker's actual position.

Example only. M1: The proposed reading club has a small room. M2: Alba still supports a trial. Use although with a complete clause: Although the proposed reading club has a small room, Alba still supports a trial. Check M1/M2: room size is conceded; support remains.

For the complete clauses used here: although + subject + verb. For the requested noun/-ing phrases: despite + phrase, without of. However links these independent statements after a full stop or semicolon, with a comma after However. Contrast does not itself prove cause.

Do the concession and main statement keep their speakers and meaning?
Check the requested construction and punctuation.

English continuation ·12th year · Document01

Concede a Point, Keep the Position

English ·12th year · Continuation · Document01

Repair the construction and keep the facts and position.

C1-A: the welcome pack is ready. C1-B: Mira supports only a small trial because translations are still missing. Draft: Although the welcome pack, Mira supports a full launch. Use although and a complete clause; keep Mira's limited support.

1

Do the concession and main statement keep their speakers and meaning?
Check the requested construction and punctuation.

English continuation ·12th year · Document01

Concede a Point, Keep the Position

English ·12th year · Continuation · Document01

Repair the construction and keep the facts and position.

C2-A: printing multilingual signs costs money. C2-B: Joel nevertheless supports a limited pilot. Draft: Despite of the printing cost, Joel opposes multilingual signs. Use despite with the printing-cost noun phrase; keep Joel's actual position.

2

Do the concession and main statement keep their speakers and meaning?
Check the requested construction and punctuation.

English continuation ·12th year · Document01

Concede a Point, Keep the Position

English ·12th year · Continuation · Document01

Repair the construction and keep the facts and position.

C3-A: Lea is new to the school. C3-B: Lea offers to lead a tour with an experienced guide. Draft: Despite being new, Lea refuses to help with tours. Keep despite + -ing; correct the action without removing the guide condition.

3

Do the concession and main statement keep their speakers and meaning?
Check the requested construction and punctuation.

English continuation ·12th year · Document01

Concede a Point, Keep the Position

English ·12th year · Continuation · Document01

Repair the construction and keep the facts and position.

C4-A: the exhibition venue is small. C4-B: Nora proposes timed visits instead of cancelling it. Draft: The venue is small, however Nora proposes cancelling the exhibition. Use two independent statements with however; retain Nora's proposal.

4

Do the concession and main statement keep their speakers and meaning?
Check the requested construction and punctuation.

English continuation ·12th year · Document01

Concede a Point, Keep the Position

English ·12th year · Continuation · Document01

Repair the construction and keep the facts and position.

C5-A: several students support recorded interviews. C5-B: Ravi warns that recording alone will not include students who lack devices. Draft: Although several students support recorded interviews, Ravi says recording will include every student. Keep although and both speakers; retain Ravi's limitation.

5

Do the concession and main statement keep their speakers and meaning?
Check the requested construction and punctuation.

English continuation ·12th year · Document01

Concede a Point, Keep the Position

English ·12th year · Continuation · Document01

Repair the construction and keep the facts and position.

C6-A: three invited families attended the discussion. C6-B: Dana still wants wider consultation; those families do not represent everyone. Draft: Despite three invited families attended, Dana says everyone has been consulted. Use despite with a noun phrase; keep the limit and Dana's position.

6

Do the concession and main statement keep their speakers and meaning?
Check the requested construction and punctuation.

English continuation ·12th year · Document01

Concede a Point, Keep the Position

English ·12th year · Continuation · Document01

7

New proposal

T1: The student archive contains only interviews with volunteers. T2: Amal supports showing the interviews but asks for other voices before calling the archive representative.

Write two independent statements linked with however for an exhibition visitor. Keep the support and reservation. Lines1–2: your statement; line3: T1/T2 and one reason. Up to38 words in total.

Do the concession and main statement keep their speakers and meaning?
Check the requested construction and punctuation.

English continuation ·12th year · Document01

Concede a Point, Keep the Position

English · 12th year · Continuation · Document01

Write two independent statements linked with however for an exhibition visitor.
Keep the support and reservation. Lines 1–2: your statement; line 3: T1/T2 and one reason. Up to 38 words in total.

Do the concession and main statement keep their speakers and meaning?
Check the requested construction and punctuation.

English continuation · 12th year · Document01