

Choosing a shop for a notebook

Review guide · English

Open response: the example is not a unique answer. Check meaning against the criteria; entering text is not enough.

One possible response

Para comprar un cuaderno después de clase, puedes ir a la librería de la plaza. Vende cuadernos y abre de tres a siete de la tarde. A las cuatro está abierta. La tienda de la estación cierra a las seis, pero solo vende comida. La librería es la opción útil para tu cuaderno.

Evidence in the example

c1: la librería de la plaza — Identify the bookshop by the square.

Identify the referent: the reader needs to know who or what you mean.

c2: Vende cuadernos y abre de tres a siete — Keep notebooks and opening hours from three to seven.

Keep the fact that lets the reader act without guessing.

c3: A las cuatro está abierta. — Explain that four o'clock is within its opening hours.

Connect your decision to the need in this situation.

c4: solo vende comida. — Explain that the station shop only sells food.

End with useful information for the next step.

Valid alternatives

Shop descriptions may use different sentence order and regional vocabulary if products and hours remain clear. A later closing time does not make a food shop suitable for stationery.

Feedback to improve

If you recommend the station shop because it is open, add the product check: being open is insufficient when it has no notebooks.

Per criterion: NE = no evidence; 0 = not yet met; 1 = partial success or content prompts; 2 = met without content prompts. Record access support without penalising it. No average, official grade or CEFR certification.

Also review: purpose and facts; readable order; language understandable at this level; a justified draft change. Errors that do not block the message may receive support without invalidating the whole text.

Keep your draft. Mark an improvement and explain why it helps the reader; if it already meets the criteria, identify and justify a specific check.

Blank record: criterion / NE–0–1–2 / observed phrase / support used / next step. Keep draft and revision; do not collect personal data.
