LA REGLA

Em inglês a cor vem ANTES do nome e nunca muda: a red car, two red cars. Aqui tens as onze cores verdadeiras, os modificadores light e dark e as palavras que quase toda a gente escreve mal.

¡Ojo! — el fallo típico. Pôr a cor depois, como em português: «a car red». É a red car, e no plural não muda: two red cars, nunca «two reds cars». E o falso amigo: red faz lembrar «rede», mas é a cor vermelha; a rede é the network.

1 A mesma palavra escreve-se de duas maneiras. Qual é de cada lado do Atlântico?
